Dynapac Strengthens Sustainability Performance with EcoVadis Silver Medal 2026

Dynapac has once again been awarded the EcoVadis Silver Medal in the 2026 Sustainability Assessment, reaffirming the company's strong commitment to sustainability and responsible business practices.

Compared to its 2025 assessment, Dynapac improved its overall EcoVadis score by an impressive 10 points, bringing the company to the threshold of achieving Gold status. The result reflects the continuous efforts made across the organization to strengthen environmental, social, ethical, and procurement-related sustainability performance.

EcoVadis medals recognize companies that have successfully completed the EcoVadis Sustainability Rating assessment and demonstrated a robust sustainability management system. The assessment evaluates companies against a comprehensive set of sustainability criteria covering Environment, Ethics, Labor & Human Rights, and Sustainable Procurement.

EcoVadis awards medals based on a company's percentile rank compared to all organizations assessed globally during the previous 12 months, regardless of industry. Silver Medal recipients rank among the top 15% of all companies assessed worldwide.

The achievement is the result of a dedicated cross-functional effort throughout the organization. "We are very proud. This recognition demonstrates our ongoing commitment to sustainability and continuous improvement," said Nikhil Sapre, President Dynapac. "Increasing our score by 10 points in a single year is a remarkable achievement and a testament to the hard work and engagement of our employees across the business."

With sustainability remaining a core pillar of its business strategy, Dynapac will continue to advance its initiatives and pursue further improvements in environmental, social, and governance performance.
